ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Walter Red is a Seattle-based author, publisher, and multimedia artist whose work merges poetry, confession, and mythic design. Through his imprint Walter Red Books LLC, he creates hybrid literary worlds that weave the sacred and the sensual—inviting readers into spaces of healing, identity, and transformation. His works span a decade of personal mythology: grief transmuted into ritual, memory rebuilt as architecture. Each volume becomes both artifact and invitation—part scripture, part mirror.
